

Bwbachod (Boobachod)

Bwbachods are from Wales and are very helpful as a rule, but can be very dangerous when they are annoyed. They have one outstanding characteristic, which is their dislike of teetotalers, who they will play tricks on. It's therefore wise to act merry when a Bwbachod is around!

Gum Fairy

The Australian Gum fairies live in and around the native Gum trees, using the nuts as shelter. Treat these little sprites well, they're a long way from home.

Australian Gum fairies are the descendants of the Brownies of the Lowlands and Highlands of Scotland. They found their way to Australia amongst the belongings of those who paid them kindly for the hard work they would do in their homes.

Bug-a-boc

Bugs can never be trusted because of their power to hypnotise. They are full of mischief and trickery and take great pleasure in fooling people. Treat yours well and it will use it's powers to cover your tracks!

Irish Leprechaun

The Leprechaun is a fairy shoe-maker who is said to have won great wealth for himself. Once he is caught it is said that he will yield it up, but if you should look away from him while you are carrying him to the point where his treasure crocks are buried, he will disappear! Though the Leprechaun can be mischievous and tricky he will bring good luck to all who believe in him.

Debie

Debies don't have much common sense but when it comes to guarding valuables there are few better, so it's unusual for anything to be lost when a Debie is around!

Silky

Silkies are domesticated fairies who can be very helpful but very mischievous. They will undo their good deeds as quickly as they did them if they should be annoyed by a lazy House-keeper.

Buttery Spirit

Buttery Sprits are mischievous and greedy and can be found in taverns where the landlords are dishonest or ungrateful people. They are capable of eating a whole sunder of food in one night!

Mermaid

Mermaids can be extremely mischievous and are said to be responsible for many ship wrecks in the open seas. A little Mermaid is a harmless sprite (we only catch the small ones!) And like a fish will only grow to fit comfortably into it's surroundings
